Gary George Designs, Inc., chooses High Point for new manufacturing facility – could create up to 30 jobs

“The ‘High Point brand’ has impressive cachet in all sectors of the furniture industry.”

HIGH POINT, NC – Gary George Designs, Inc., is opening a new manufacturing operation in south High Point. The New York-based company will operate a framing / upholstery division at 1323 Dorris Ave.

The company specializes in contemporary upholstered furniture for residential, hospitality, and contract customers.

The company participates in the High Point Market and has showroom space in the International Home Furnishings Center.

“Creating glamorous comfortable upholstery furniture is paramount to my collection,” said Gary Buxbaum, president. “Showing our furniture at the High Point Market is so important. Now having our furniture made in High Point will only enhance our collection’s reputation. The ‘High Point brand’ has impressive cachet in all sectors of the furniture industry and with the general public.”

As the company ramps up its local manufacturing operations, it could hire as many as 25-30 local employees.

The company worked with both the NC Department of Commerce and the High Point Economic Development Corporation.

“We are gratified by the faith in High Point that Gary George Designs is showing by adding manufacturing operations here,” said Loren Hill, president of the High Point Economic Development Corp.

The company is hiring now for these positions: upholstery, sewing, carpentry and sales. Persons seeking employment at Gary George Designs can contact the High Point office of NC Division of Employment Security, 607 Idol Street / esc.jobs.highpoint@ncesc.gov / 336-882-4141.
