HIGH POINT, NC (July 17, 2019)

The High Point Public Library will host Fall Vegetable Gardens: Extending Your Harvest on Wednesday August 21 from 6:00 - 7:30 p.m. in the Morgan Community Room. This program is presented by the NC Extension Services Master Gardener Volunteers. This class is part of the Fall Series of Indoor classes offered at the public library.

This event is free and open to the public.

Vegetable gardening does not have to end with tomatoes and cucumbers. Late summer is the time to plan and plant for your garden's third productive season! Learn about season extenders and other tips and techniques to keep your garden growing well past the first frost.

The City of High Point aims to serve as the catalyst for bringing together the community's human, economic and civic resources for the purpose of creating the single most livable, safe and prosperous community in America. For more information on the City, visit www.highpointnc.gov.
