CONTAINER GARDENING SESSION AT HIGH POINT PUBLIC LIBRARY

Presented by NC Extension Master Gardener Volunteers

HIGH POINT, NC (January 12, 2017) – The NC Extension Master Gardener Volunteers will present “Flowerpot Food: Growing Vegetables and Herbs in Containers” from 6:00 to 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, February 21 in the Morgan Community Room of the High Point Public Library, 901 N. Main Street.

If you have limited space, sun or time, a set of containers can be a productive gardening space. This session will cover all of the basics of growing a container garden – the right location, timing, planning and tending. Since 1979, the NC Extension Master Gardener Volunteers have been guiding homeowners in making environmentally sound decisions in their gardens, lawns and landscapes. This event is free and open to the public, and no registration is required.
