HIGH POINT, N.C. (April 30, 2018) – The City of High Point Human Relations Division and Interfaith Affairs Committee will collaborate with local faith leaders for High Point’s second annual Multi-Faith National Day of Prayer, with programs at 7:00 a.m. and 7:00 p.m. on Thursday, May 3 at the High Point Public Library Arts and Education Plaza, located at 901 N. The Multi-Faith National Day of Prayer event was spearheaded by the City of High Point Human Relations Commission’s Interfaith Committee. The National Day of Prayer is an annual day of observance on the first Thursday of May, inviting people of all faiths to pray for the nation. The morning program will begin with a proclamation reading by Mayor Pro-Tem Chris Williams. The morning program will be approximately 30 minutes, while the evening program will last about an hour. Both events will include sacred text reading and prayers from multiple faiths including Atheism, Baha’i, Buddhism, Christianity, Hinduism, Islam and Judaism.
